Artist Bio

Lindi Badenhorst (born 1980) completed her BAFA at the University of Pretoria in 2002. After graduation she moved to Johannesburg and started her career in the Film & Television industry in the art department. Throughout she has maintained and developed her skills as an artist through the medium of visual art.

After fifteen years in the television industry in South Africa, Lindi is now shifting her career to allow more time for art while she still freelances in the television and film industry in Dubai.

Her art draws conceptually from the medium itself and she is inspired by her emotional response to colour and textures. Her works are built with generous delicate layers of transparent colours that form intriguing landscapes.

Over the years Lindi has participated in numerous group exhibitions and is represented by Art it Is Gallery, Parkwood and Woodstock. She has sold work on an international base in countries such as Australia, London and Dubai to private collectors.

JC MELLET

ARTIST BIO

A digital analyst and process engineer by day, a high creative, digital photographer, graphic designer, and light curator by night, JC finds beauty in the everyday and perceived mundane, dissecting meaning from the existential crisis of being human. Always Memento Mori!

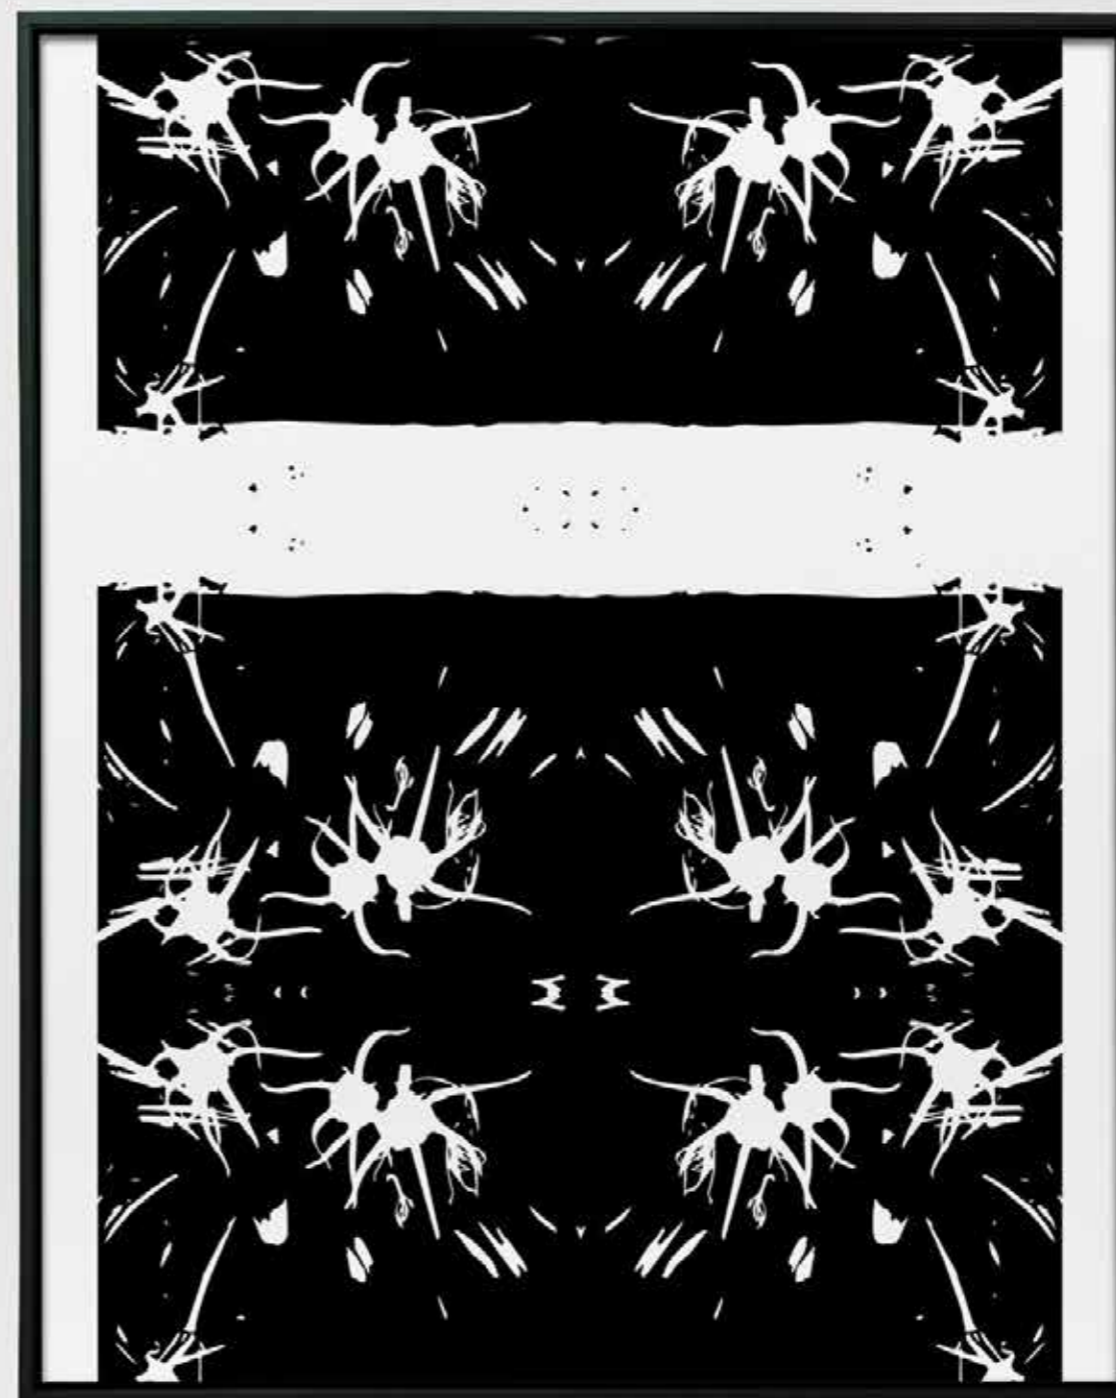

As a passionate saunterer, he devours, savours, and transforms digital souvenirs through the exploration of pattern at play - creating new perspectives of our lives on planet earth through the manipulation of nature and architectural images, catapulting imagination into an abyss of fantasy.

Corlene Furstenberg

Artist Bio

She is renowned for unlocking your personal “art dreams” and bringing them to life.

“Creating art is the alchemy that translates your heart into form.”

Corlene Furstenberg is a South African born artist who combines her unique, artistic talents to work across several mediums. She will capture your imagination and heart through her large scale metal, perspex and wood installations, modern limited edition prints, interactive walls of art, all the way through to bespoke commissions and sculpture gardens.

Corlene intuitively translates your creative passion into bespoke pieces for your home, office or garden. She combines ancient symbols and modern patterns, the power of mythology and magical creatures through her visual storytelling. Her work is sought after internationally and private commissions can be found on estates and offices across the USA, France, Mauritius and South Africa.

She simply loves the possibility and alchemy of metal - bending and cutting copper, steel and brass fascinates her. She conjures up and sculpts extraordinary metal installations to create Interactive Art. The observer can immerse in the art experience through touching, moving and transforming the piece in front of their eyes to remind you of the ‘Magic of Possibility.’

With a formal degree in Fine Arts and Entertainment Technology, Corlene shone in the creation of theatre props and décor painting. This means that no canvas or backdrop is ever too large for this bold artist. As a well-schooled Reproduction Artist able to adjust her artistic style from the most classical to the ultra-modern, she initially created reproductions of a variety of the Great Masters for the stage and big screen. Corlene has a waiting list for clients wanting to own a piece of original art or a masterful reproduction. Her take on Gustav Klimt, Gabriel Rossetti and James Draper is her client’s favourite.

She collaborates closely with top Interior Designers to complement their masterful designs. Corlene is gifted at transforming spaces into relevant and exciting environments and she will add the perfect piece to the interior to pull the final look together with finesse. Designers know that nothing speaks style more than an immaculately hung bespoke piece of art! This specialized skill has also put her at the forefront of Artistic Office Installations, translating brand and culture onto the walls through art.

Colene has been invited to exhibit at the Julie Miller African Contemporary Gallery, ART IT IS and Yuill Demaso Studio in Johannesburg, South Africa. She adjudicates the annual International Reddam House School ‘Concourse D’arts competition and lectured “Costume Design for TV and Film” at AFDA.

Artist Bio

My art career has taken me from a fine arts degree in painting and sculpture, to interactive multimedia, figure drawing and computer animation in London, book illustration and back again to fine arts.

My etchings and lino prints reflect my appreciation of monotone, while in my works in oils on canvas and watercolour are alive with the colours of the natural world.

I have always had an absolute passion for animals and nature. I try to capture beautiful scenery in my work. I think art should almost look like another window in your home, as if looking out to some incredible place that lets the mind escape into the image.

I have also been teaching kids for 18 years, which has given great pleasure and satisfaction in the development of talented young students who find new ways of expression.

Isabella Mostert

ARTIST BIO

Isabella Mostert is a South African artist, working and living in Johannesburg.

She chose a career in the performing arts. A career path which has allowed for a rich, multi-faceted working life. And throughout, she has maintained and developed her skills at self-expression, through the medium of visual art.

Isabella's oil paintings convey the emotional response evoked by her subject matter and her use of colour is key in making those feelings known. It is the delicate and usually concealed intricacy of life at molecular level, which frequently captures her interest and serves as subject matter. Generous washes of transparent colour, either layered or stripped down, create the delicate shapes which form compositions of mysterious allure.

Landscapes of the dream world inviting the viewer to enter and linger, giving their imagination free rein... Offering an escape from the austerity of reality her work relies for its intensity on the blurring of textures, both material and psychological, as everything bleeds into a single scintillating substance.

Isabella's fine art has been featured in various leading South African magazines. Many commissioned works hang in private homes both in South Africa and overseas. She's had various exhibitions throughout South Africa.
